

Nominating an Organizational PbD Ambassador

Organizational PbD Ambassadors are recognized for their consistent and effective internal application of the 7 Foundational Principles of Privacy by Design. Also recognized are those groups committed to supporting the application of the principles within other organizations.

The Organizational PbD Ambassador designation is not intended to endorse or imply that an organization's goods or services meet any particular "standard" developed by The Office of the Information & Privacy Commissioner of Ontario. The organizations described within this section represent examples of applied Privacy by Design.

Anyone may nominate an organization to become an Ambassador. Simply click on the link below and submit a thorough explanation of:

1. Who your organization is and what it does;
2. How you have implemented the principles of PbD internally; and,
3. What benefits your organization has realized as a consequence.

A representative from the Office will contact you to discuss your submission.
